TRIBUTE TO LULA HASKINS

So few of us learn to be content regardless of the hand we are dealt-
Lula seemed to accept and do her best wherever she dwelt.
68 years have not been easy: she understood the bumps in the road
She knew to just do her best no matter the weight of the load.
No one could be around her long and not be made to smile
For most often she cheered you up as you sat for awhile.
Lula understood hard work; early on the farm-the field was her place
But later in life she was able to change the pace.
Now it was her joy of sewing; the hosiery mill a place to earn a living
Yet she understood life was really more about giving.
She was a romantic at heart, perhaps that's why her love of reading;
And why she seem to put forward her best at every greeting.
Her journey on earth took many a turn, a truth most understand-
But her faith in Jesus and being born again was truly the most grand.
You her family were her joy and pride
That was in her heart right until she died.
So our honor for her doesn't end today
Not is it fully experienced in just what we say.
It's best seen in how we choose to live each and every day;
Being the best example to others in every possibly way.
For us who remain it is hard sometimes to go on
But remember what is sunset to us is really her dawn.
